The School Food People Marketing Award

Effective marketing is an important function in any organisation's success and this is certainly true within the school catering industry. Please answer the questions below and ensure that you comply with the submission requirements.

1. What were your key marketing objectives during 2025/26 and how did you perform against the 'plan'?
2. What did you do to maximise meal uptake?
3. How did you maximise PR opportunities and how did this support The School Food People's aims to promote all that is great about school meals?
4. What role, if any, did National School Meals Week play in your marketing plan?

Entries should show:

- the marketing strategies/techniques used to meet objectives, giving key data to support your results and conclusions
- what you actually did, highlight successes and lessons learnt
- the effect the marketing has had on uptake / perception or addressed any other aims and objectives
- if/how you promoted your service during the year either locally or by supporting any national initiatives

The judges will assess entries based on the above criteria and submissions should meet the following requirements.

Nan Berger OBE FIOH (1914-1998)

As an appreciation of Nan and her commitment to The School Food People, formerly LACA and the school meals service, The School Food People National Board felt it appropriate that the membership of The School Food People had a greater understanding of how she played a key role in our transition and shared our ambitions to see the school meal service thrive.

Nan worked for many years in association with the IOH and was a founder member of The School Food People. Nan had a great dedication to the cause of nutritious school meals for all pupils, and in 1990 published a book on the service, setting out the complete history, how it was formed from the early days of temporary kitchens and the structures and economics of school meals. As an editor she also enabled our first handbook to be published. Nan received an OBE in 1948 for the work she did on behalf of the government in the statistics department of the Ministry of Fuel and Power.
